those people are.

SENATOR CARPENTER: I realize, Senator, I only used the Technical College because that was that paragraph. Is the University now have any problem recruiting anybody over there?

SENATOR GOODRICH: Pardon me, I couldn't get your question?

SENATOR CARPENTER: Is the University of Nebraska at Lincoln having any problem of recruiting anybody for any position?

SENATOR GOODRICH: They have had in the past.

SENATOR CARPENTER: Do they have any problem now? Recently.

SENATOR GOODRICH: I don't know of any particular position they are recruiting for right now. I happen to know that the state Colleges, for example, are looking for a President for the Peru State College. I happen to know that the Community Colleges are going to be recruiting in the very near future for people in their positions.

SENATOR CARPENTER: Some of us believe they ought to close Peru College because it is almost obsolete. It doesn't serve any good purpose.

SENATOR GOODRICH: Well, that would be an entirely different subject. It isn't pertinent to this particular bill.

SENATOR CARPENTER: Well, it's the same subject. You say they are having trouble recruiting people. I don't think they are. I think they have got too much staff now based upon what they have got in the school. I don't think...I think this thing is too broad. If you want to confine it to a Director or to a member of, like a President, Chancellor, fine, but you've got everybody in here they can think of, and knowing schools as I have observed them they will use every thing you give to them. I think they ought to be restricted to some reasonable extent. Where did the bill come from, if that's a fair question.

SENATOR GOODRICH: The bill was proposed to me back in the '72 session, about the middle of it, and, frankly, we didn't have time to draft it at that time.

SENATOR CARPENTER: Who proposed...I don't want to, if you don't want to say, that's fine.

SENATOR GOODRICH: I don't even remember who proposed the idea, the original idea to me. It's just that I liked the idea back in the middle of the '72 session and I didn't have time to promote, to draft it. In fact, I even went to Emory Burnett and says, "Have you got time to squeeze one more in?" and he says, "I'll try but I don't know". Well, frankly, we just didn't get it in.

SENATOR CARPENTER: I think we ought to kill the bill then.

SPEAKER: Does the chair deduct that the bill is controversial and if so, we should pass over it, Senator Goodrich. The chair is going to recognize Senator Nore.

SENATOR NORE: Mr. President, and fellow members, I agree with Senator Carpenter. I think this provision could be dissipated and I think as far...I'm quite sure as far as the University of Nebraska is concerned their Foundation which has several hundred thousand dollars collect every year, I think about $400,000. They take care of these expenses pretty well, and I don't know whether the State Colleges have a Foundation, Alumni Foundation, but if they don't, they should, and I am just sure that this could be dissipated to the point where probably we would have to change the law.
